Maintenance and Inspection

"Put the pressure on us"

Bakker Oilfield Supply (B.O.S.) has a long term history in providing all kinds of services for the Oil & Gas Industry in Europe. One of the most important, but relatively unknown services, are maintenance, inspections and high pressure testing of flow iron.

Did you for example know that B.O.S. has in total four high pressure test bays? All equipped with the Resato high pressure pump systems able to pressurise up to 22.500 psi? All test bays are secured with a safety system and equipped with a video system to monitor testing from a control room. All tests are recorded and stored digitally, ready for online tracking.

Our experienced crew is competent, flexible and able to perform testing according standard API 6A procedures. In case you demand other procedures, we are always able to adapt, respecting the safety of our crew and your equipment of course. Besides the test bays, we have our own spray booth, where we are able to coat, or paint your equipment according your specifications! Performing an individual pressure test, an annual inspection or five year major is no problem for us! If a third party or NOBO certification is required, we will take care of that as well.

Maintenance and Inspection

B.O.S. has an official accreditation from WEIR SPM to perform OEM maintenance on the WEIR-SPM products, but is also competent to perform any kind of maintenance on all other brands available in the European market. Holding stock or supply of spare parts is always an option.

Now that maintenance is "under pressure" due to the current situation in the industry, you might want to consider outsourcing your maintenance or inspections. Especially now that the number of employees in your own workshop is probably brought back to a minimum and you are looking for cost effective measures.

Let us take away the pressure in your workshop. Put us to the test and put the pressure on us! Contact us for details regarding prices and procedures.
